A Card.—The undersigned, impelled by a deep sense of gratirade for the almost unparalleled efforts of the Police and Fire Departments in the saving of life and property at the late fire in his pennies, would take this early occasion to thank these departments for the fearleanness and zeal with which they performed, act only their official duties (which would justify them in stopping short of exposing their own lives), but those higher duties as men of quick and reapy sympathies, who know no danger where human fie is in jeopardy.

Not to draw inviduous comparisons, he would mention the mames of Daniel Carpenter, Deputy Superintendent of Police, Ceptain Turnbull of the Eighth Precinct, and his officers, the members of Engine Companies Nos. 11 and 40; also, the members of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 6, as having been the most gettive.

In like manner he feels constrained as a simple matter of justice to mention the names of Mr. James Corlies and H. Fenner, whose names were not mentioned in the papers; they were largely instrumental in saving the hie of my nice, also servant fin, at the peril of their own lives. Also to Dr. Campbell of No. 113 Grand-st., near Broadway, for the very noble namer which he treated the members of my family, throwing open his house for their accommedation, and volunteering his own services for their second. he treated the meaning and volumes.

NEW SUMMER BOOKS.—
RECOLLECTIONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

A Domestic Diary of the actual events which occurred among a colony of inhibitiants in the neighborhood of New York and Long Island, during the War of the American Revolution, together with Personal Reminiscences of Washington and Lafsyette, never before published. Related by the daugther of a clergyman, and prepared from records now in the precision of the family of the author. Edited by Sidney Barcley.

One of our most distinguished historians remarks of this volume, that it is the only history of private home events published, and is interesting on this account—all previous works being more or less statistical and general. This volume aims alone at presenting the occurrences and incidents which existed in one neighborhood. Ifmo, muslin, printed in antique. Price $1.
